

Early 18th century French Rouen region faience pottery platter

Sold

REF: 5618

Depth: 4 cm (1.6")

Diameter: 36 cm (14.2")

Description

Early 18th century French Rouen region faience pottery platter circa 1720, damaged but lovingly restored many years ago.

Black-bottomed Rouen faience refers to a type of French earthenware from the Rouen region, distinguished by its dark, glossy glaze on the base. Originating in the 17th century, it often features intricate, colourful designs on the upper surfaces. This unique contrast highlights the craftsmanship and artistic innovation of Rouen pottery.