

Christian Dior by Grosse gilt ear clips

£95

Description

A pair of 1968 Christian Dior Marc Bohan by Grosse gilt crystal ear clips. Boxed.

Marc Bohan, creative director of Christian Dior from 1961 to 1989, brought elegance and refinement to the brand's costume jewellery. His designs reflected Dior's haute couture aesthetic, featuring intricate craftsmanship, luxurious materials, and timeless femininity. B ohan's pieces often incorporated gold plating, pearls, and sparkling rhinestones, capturing the essence of classic French glamour. His costume jewelry remains highly collectible, symbolising the sophistication and artistry of Dior's golden era under his visionary leadership.