Description

Mid-century 18ct yellow gold horse brooch set with brilliant cut diamonds

The brilliant cut, developed in the early 20th century by gem cutter Marcel Tolkowsky, revolutionised diamond cutting with its emphasis on maximising light reflection and brilliance. Tolkowsky's precise geometric formula, published in 1919, became the standard for modern diamond cutting. This cut, characterised by its 58 facets, enhances a diamond's sparkle and has since become the most popular and enduring cut in the jewellery industry.
