Description

A 19th century Normandy faience hanging majolica jardiniere converted to a pendant light shade.

Normandy faience is a type of traditional French earthenware known for its intricate hand-painted designs and vibrant colours. Originating in the Normandy region during the 17th and 18th centuries, it showcases motifs like floral patterns, pastoral scenes, and folkloric themes.

Crafted using tin-glazing techniques, it achieves a glossy, opaque finish. Normandy faience reflects regional artistry and heritage, making it a prized collector's item. Today, it remains an emblem of French ceramic craftsmanship and rural charm.
