Description

A refined and timeless pair of 18ct white gold ear studs, each centred with a richly coloured cabochon sapphire and framed by brilliant-cut diamonds. The smooth, softly domed sapphire cabochons offer a beautiful depth of colour and a gentle, luminous sheen, while the surrounding diamonds add crisp sparkle and definition.

The combination of tactile cabochon-cut sapphires and precisely faceted brilliant-cut diamonds creates an elegant contrast: the sapphires provide softness and richness, while the diamonds bring light and brilliance to the design. Set in cool-toned 18ct white gold, the earrings have a clean, sophisticated appearance that allows the gemstones to take centre stage.

Designed as classic studs, they sit neatly on the ear and are suited to both everyday wear and more formal occasions. Their balanced proportions, enduring materials, and understated glamour make them an especially versatile addition to a jewellery collection.

A graceful pair of sapphire and diamond earrings, equally appealing as a thoughtful gift or a beautifully wearable example of fine contemporary jewellery.
