

19th century Scottish silver kilt pin

£65

Description

A 19th century Scottish silver kilt pin mounted with a circular citrine in cut-away setting.

Kilt pins are traditional Scottish accessories, worn on the front of a kilt to secure the fabric and add decorative flair. Typically crafted from metals like silver or brass, they often feature intricate designs or symbols. Beyond their functional purpose, kilt pins reflect personal style and heritage, enhancing the kilt's elegance.
