

Original 1930s four-spring Anglepoise 1209 lamp

£395

REF: 5335

Height: 110 cm (43.3")

Description

An original 1930s four-spring Anglepoise 1209 draughtsman's task lamp manufactured by Herbert Terry & Sons. Showing signs of wear but such a design classic.

Rewired with chrome bulb holder and black twisted fabric flex. PAT tested.

Herbert Terry & Sons, founded in 1855 in Redditch, England, is known for its innovative contributions to lighting and mechanical engineering. Renowned for inventing the famous "Anglepoise" lamp and pioneering flexible lamp stands, the company's designs blend functionality with elegance. It reflects a rich heritage in industrial craftsmanship and design excellence.